

Rapid Response to Active Shooter

Sponsored by Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority

(MMRMA)

This course is designed to give officers the basic knowledge necessary to deal with rapid deployment situations (active shooter). The tactics taught in this course are more advanced than the traditional diamond or quad formations currently used by many agencies. It begins with a brief classroom orientation of history, terminology, responsibilities/objectives and tactics. The students are then broken into groups and drilled on team formations, modular & cumulative exercises, entries/room clearing, officer/citizen rescues, vehicle rescues and more. This course contains reality-based, force-on-force scenarios, which place the officers in stressful situations and re-enforce the methodology and tactics for dealing with this critical issue
